WILSON - BROWN

Catherine Lynn, twin daughter of William and Margaret Wilson, RR4 Ingersoll and John Donald, son of George and Marilyn Brown RR4 Embro were married in Trinity United Church, Ingersoll by Rev. Barry Robinson on July 15, 1989.

The bride wore a silk taffeta gown accented with an alencon lace bodice and short train. An arrangement of pink cornflowers and heather held her shoulder length veil and she carried an informal bouquet of lilies, roses and stephanotis.

Maid of honour was Carrie Wilson and bridesmaids were Anita Van Ostaeyen, Joanne Kerr and Marysa Snider. They wore pink and blue floral printed afternoon dresses and carried arrangements of mixed summer flowers.

Dave Strickler was best man, and Bob Brown, Bill Wilson and Dave Chatterton were ushers.

The reception was held at Mount Elgin Community Centre, following which the couple left for a honeymoon at Deerhurst Inn. Cathy and John now reside at Dwyer Farms, RR4 Embro.

Ruth Earle, daughter of Don and Margaret Earle of R.R. 4, Ingersoll and Scott Houlton, son of George and Carol Anne Houlton of Thamesford were united in marriage July 29.

Rev. Robert Rumball officiated at the ceremony which took place in the bride's parents' backyard. Bob Young of Cambridge was the guitarist.

The bride, given in marriage by her father wore a V-neck, floor-length white gown with a long clover leaf train accented with pearls and sequins. She wore a headband piece with shimmering veil and droplets of pearls and carried a bouquet of Gardenias, Lily of the Valley and Baby's Breath.

The maid of honor, Debbie Earle of Ingersoll wore an elegant blue cocktail-length dress and carried Gardenias. The bridesmaids, Cathy Blancher of Ingersoll, Heather Moore of Ingersoll and Sherri Ryall of Toronto also wore elegant blue dresses and carried Gardenias.

The best man, Don (Moose) Neave of Ingersoll and ushers Kevin Sageman of Toronto, Brian Sonders of Ingersoll and Chris Thompson of Cathcart wore tuxedos.

The reception took place at Thamesford Community Centre with guests present from Alberta, northern, southern, and central Ontario.

The couple took a wedding trip to the U.S. and now lives in Kitchener. (Photography by Photo Shop Ingersoll)

Man dies from injuries in car-train accident

An 86-year-old Ingersoll man whose car collided with a train Sept. 28 has since died in hospital.

Fred Napthen died in Alexandra Hospital Oct. 15 after being transferred back to the Ingersoll hospital from the intensive care ward at Hamilton's McMaster University Medical Centre Oct. 13. He never regained consciousness.

On the morning of the accident, Napthen was driving southbound on Mutual Street in Ingersoll and had reached the railway crossing when the safety gates began lowering. Ingersoll police said he slammed on the brakes but the car slid under the gate before it stopped.

Police said he tried to reverse the vehicle but failed to get out of the way before the car was struck by a Canadian National Railway train.

Napthen was taken by ambulance to Alexandra Hospital, suffering from head and chest injuries. He was then transferred to Hamilton.

He is survived by his wife, Norma Wilson, daughter Mrs. Betty Webb of Michigan, and granddaughter, Laura. Also surviving are two brothers, Harry of Ingersoll, and Sidney of St. Williams.

A private family service was held at the McBeath Funeral Home on Oct. 18.

INGERSOLL TIMES

November 23, 1989

Tammy Lynn, daughter of Marvin and Pat Lemon and Thomas Wesley Judd, son of Shirley Judd were united in marriage on August 19, 1989 by Rev. Audrey Whitney at Salford United Church. Escorted to the altar by her father, the bride wore a beautiful Southern Belle style organza and satin bridal gown. The fitted bodice featured a V-neckline, with off shoulder ruffles of organza. The full skirt fell to a cathedral train of ruffles. A veil and headpiece accented with flowers and pearls completed the bridal ensemble. The bride's gown and attendants' gowns were designed and made by the bride's great-aunt Velma Allison of Blenheim. Tammy carried a bouquet of silk orchids, roses and carnations in shades of pink & fuchsia with trailing pearls. Matron of honour was Trudy Gee, bridesmaids were Carrie Zavitz, Jackie Byerson and Missy Abrams, all friends of the bride. The bride's attendants wore full length gowns of fuchsia taffeta with black lace bodice overlay, accented at the back waist with a fuchsia taffeta rosette. They carried fan arrangements accented with flowers the same as the bridal bouquet. Flower girl was Jessica Attridge, Stratford, niece of the groom. She was attired in a gown similar to the bride and carried a heart shaped arrangement of miniature orchid, carnation and roses.

The groom wore a black tail tuxedo with white shirt, tie and cummerbund with a boutonniere of a pink rose from the bridal bouquet. Best man was Ross Gee and ushers were Allan Mann, Scott Byerson and Danny Holden, friends of the groom. All wore black tuxedos with white shirt, fuchsia cummerbund and bow tie. Ring bearer was Judd Attridge, Stratford, nephew of the groom, wearing a black tail tuxedo to match the groom's. They all wore boutonnieres from the bridesmaids' bouquets. The reception and dance was held at the Ingersoll District Memorial Centre for 200 guests. The happy couple honeymooned in Myrtle Beach, South Carolina and are now residing in Ingersoll. A special thank you to our friends and relatives who made our day a very joyous occasion.

Alex Edmonds

Former mayor dies

The Ingersoll man who welcomed the Royal Couple to town during the first-ever Royal Visit on any Dominion soil by a reigning British monarch, was buried last Thursday.

Alex Edmonds, 94, died last Tuesday at Alexandra Hospital.

Mr. Edmonds was mayor of Ingersoll in 1939 when King George VI and Queen Elizabeth, now the Queen Mother, stopped in town June 7 for 10 minutes. A crowd of 15,000 gathered that day.

"It was a glorious day," Mr. Edmonds said in June when the Queen Mother returned to Canada commemorating the 50th anniversary of the first Royal Visit.

Mr. Edmonds, a printer by trade for the Ingersoll Tribune, spent three years as a town councillor before being elected as mayor for two consecutive terms in 1938 and 1939.

He was a member of the Kiwanis club and sang for many years with the choir at St. Paul's Presbyterian Church.

Mayor Doug Harris, who visited Mr. Edmonds, described him as being a "super guy; fun to see."

Born in Ingersoll June 5, 1895, Mr. Edmonds is survived by his wife Jean (Beattie); one daughter, Jean Godden, of Vancouver, B.C.; a son, Alex J. Edmonds, of Cumberland, B.C.; several grandchildren and great-grandchildren and one great-great-grandchild.

Also surviving are two sisters, Nellie Jones and Kathleen Hoodless, both of Scarborough; two brothers, Harry C., of Woodstock, and Carl F., of Tillsonburg.

Predeceased by his first wife Eva Blackwell (1945), and one brother, Bert.

Funeral service is today at 11 a.m. at the McBeath Funeral Home, Rev. John Jennings officiating.

Interment was in Ingersoll Rural Cemetery.
